Physicians Working Together Medical Student Scholarship Fund Donation Request

Hello!

Physicians Working Together provides helpful medical resources, physician advocacy, medical student mentoring, and scholarships. It's no secret that medical school is expensive, and the rates continue to climb. Beyond the scope of tuition costs, medical students are faced with a list of additional financial obligations that include lab costs, textbooks, testing fees, and the list goes on.

Physicians Working Together is dedicated to helping future doctors achieve success! Through the assistance of sponsorship, our non-profit organization funds a medical student scholarship with an effort to relieve a portion of medical students' financial burdens. We feature an annual contest during National Physicians Week that provides a financial stipend to selected medical students each year. With an effort to combat burnout, the online competition helps distract medical students from the pressures of their coursework during the celebratory week. Participants are encouraged to submit a short video that displays their artistic talents and abilities. The winners are selected and announced during National Physicians Week (March 25-31).

As we continue to facilitate the necessary groundwork to strengthen our relationships with medical students and medical schools through mentorship, we need your support! In exchange for your partnership, your company or organization will be recognized in the edited video credits, highlighted throughout our digital marketing campaigns on our social media platforms, and listed on other web ads. The following sponsorship levels are available:
